TRADITION OF INNOVATION

MALONE LAW: CHANGING THE LANDSCAPE OF LAW IN GEORGIA

For over 50 years, Malone Law has carved a tradition of innovation with a unique ability to look beyond the horizon and make seismic shifts in the legal landscape of Georgia. Of course, what is considered innovation changes over time; but early in his career, Tommy Malone was taking on cases with long odds at a time when he wasn't expected to win. He wanted to do the right thing to help clients lacking opportunity, education and means against the entrenched establishment—the health care systems, hospitals and physicians well known in their communities. Tommy changed the legal landscape when he proved these cases could be won. And won big.

"Colleagues and friends in the legal community tell me that my dad was one of the pioneers," says Adam Malone. "He was so well respected by his peers, and not just because of the innovative methods and his ability to communicate complex issues to a jury in the simplest ways. He was respected because of his authenticity, courage and character. Before I became an attorney and learned to appreciate what he was really doing in the profession, I respected my dad most for one simple reason: his unwavering desire to help other people."

Now principal of the firm, Malone carries forward his late father's legacy and dedicated commitment to help others, continuing to take on the most challenging cases with the most catastrophic consequences. Malone Law continues that dedication to make a meaningful difference in the communities they serve and in the lives of their entrusted clients.
