VOICE of the INJURED

Adam Malone always knew he wanted to make a meaningful difference in other people's lives. It's what drew him to become a lawyer, and what propels his work nearly 25 years later. Malone dedicates his career to helping people and families who have been catastrophically injured or killed by negligence.

Malone pours his talent, expertise, and experience into pursuing justice and fair compensation for clients. He is a tireless champion for people whose lives have been devastated by medical or hospital negligence and complex personal injuries such as brain or spinal cord injury, amputation, and wrongful death. Inside and outside the courtroom, Malone advocates with honor and integrity to help his clients heal and hold the responsible parties accountable.

"I've always had a calling to stand up for those who are being bullied or mistreated in some way," Malone says.

His dual commitments to justice and excellence consistently result in maximum recoveries for clients, with many of his past verdicts and settlements exceeding $20 million. During his career, Malone has secured more than $650 million for individuals and families.

LEADING the CHARGE

A TRADITION of EXCELLENCE

When Adam Malone decides to take a case, he calls upon Malone Law's 60 years of experience in medical negligence and personal injury law. The Malone team knows how to dig deep and uncover all of the evidence they need to hold hospitals, insurance companies, and corporations responsible for grave injuries.

The key to Adam Malone's success is that he prepares every case for trial. This includes applying his extensive knowledge of medicine and the law with a unique ability to identify where good medicine and the business of health care often converge to compromise patient safety. Then add in an exhaustive mastery of the facts, access to the country's most prominent experts in every medical specialty, and an abundance of natural talent and ability to explain complex matters in simple terms.

In the past 12 months alone, the Malone firm recovered more than $35 million total in four medical negligence cases. They include three wrongful death and one birth injury case. In each case, Malone's tenacity, thoroughness, and mastery of the law and facts won justice for his clients.

And when Malone wins, everyone in Georgia wins. Medical providers and corporations work to prevent similar injuries, and sometimes laws even change to improve safety for all of us.

Even with a full plate of cases, Adam Malone makes time to give back to his profession and community. This year, he was honored by being asked to serve as Chair of the Board of Directors for John Marshall Law School, where he received his law degree and graduated first in his class. Malone has been on the law school's governing board since 2009.

After more than 20 years of service in the leadership of the Georgia Trial Lawyers Association (GTLA), Malone recently completed his term as GTLA President. He remains committed, now as a Past President, to GTLA's mission of protecting the independence of our judiciary and the constitutional right to trial by jury.

In addition, Malone has been a leader for many local, state, and national organizations including the American Association for Justice, the nation's most prominent organization for lawyers representing injured people and their families. Malone also serves on the Board of the Shepherd Center Foundation, the nation's leading rehabilitation hospital in Atlanta for patients with brain and spinal cord injuries.
